

Knowledge Intersections II

Exploring the Research of Central Australia

Date and Location

May 17th 2018, Charles Darwin University, Alice Springs

Important Dates and Information

Presenter and Attendee Registration Opens	Wednesday 4th April 2018
Presenter and Attendee Registration Closes	Tuesday 24th April 2018
Welcome Reception and Book Launch	Wednesday 16th May 2018 5:30pm – 7:00pm
Knowledge Intersections II Symposium Full Day Program	Thursday 17th May 2018 8:00am – 5:00pm
Presenters: Full papers due for special issue	Friday 15th June 2018

This one-day research symposium is convened to showcase central Australian research, and offer professional learning and networking opportunities to researchers working in central Australian contexts. It particularly welcomes participation from researchers at the beginning of their careers.

The theme of 'Knowledge Intersections' originated in the 2017 symposium of that name, hosted by Bachelor Institute and tied in to the NT Writers' Festival concept of 'Crossings – Iwerre-Atherre'. The language in the festival concept comes from local Arrernte people who interpreted crossings to mean two roads meeting, neither blocking nor erasing the other. Local researchers will explore the interdisciplinary and intercultural aspects of their work by responding to one of two strands.

Presentation Strands

Sustainability

- What counts as 'sustainable' research in central Australian human and physical contexts?
- Where might ethical and sustainable practices converge?

Research as art – art as research

- How can arts-based research 'make new worlds' by 'making perceptible, visible and audible that which is no longer or not yet perceived, said and heard in everyday life'?
- What can happen when 'art' and 'research' meet?

Presentation Modes

Presentations will occur in two modes, both of which focus on facilitating interdisciplinary discussion:

- 1) Pecha Kucha Presentations followed by panel and audience discussion
- 2) Facilitated Workshop- Discussion Sessions

Hosted By

CDU Alice Springs Campus and the College of Education

Proudly Supported by

The Central Australian Research Group

The Northern Institute and Bachelor Institute

Click Here to Register!

Art Work by Kathleen Wallace